No Democratic Party.

At the hazard of contradicting the vulgar prejudice and showing out own sense of rectitude, we are obliged to announce the deliberate conclusion that there is now no Democratic party in existence.—Washington States.

"The States" is a daily journal of respectable ability, and considerable influence, published at the federal capital, and never suspected of being anything but democratic in its political attachments.—though not quite so Old Hunkerish as the Washington Union, the N. Y. Journal of Commerce, and the Boston Post. Its announcement "that there is no democratic party in existence" is therefore, rather a paradox to the reading public, in spite of the explanations with which the States accompanies it.

The gist of its article is, that there is doubtless a "very abundant supply" of individual democrats in this country, but that they differ so widely in their sentiments relative to political measures, that "they no more constitute a party," (says the States,) in the philosophical and practical sense of the word, than a heap of unloosened and unadjusted stones constitutes a palace." Upon the questions of "popular sovereignty," the Tariff, internal improvements by the federal government, and even upon that of "the pursuit of the spoils," the States finds among democrats nothing but discord and contrariety. And it seems to think that the general tendency of Mr. Buchanan's administration, thus far, has been rather to increase than to lessen and suppress these mischiefs, which have finally culminated in the destruction of the democratic party.

If the States had said that the democratic party founded by Jefferson had long since passed away, and that the party now calling itself democratic was another affair altogether, and wholly unlike the original position would have been correct and impregnable. The man who cannot see the difference to be radical and eternal, between the great fundamental principles laid down by Jefferson, and those now generally acted out by the leaders and managers of the so-called democratic party, must have the dullest of all mortal perceptions. The man who really believes that Jefferson could have deliberately approved the course of the leaders and managers of this party for the last thirty years, is to be pitied for his ignorance of the real sentiments of that great statesman.

But the position of the States is very different from ours in this matter. That journal has hitherto been a supporter of the party whose dissolution it now affirms—whose existence, it alleges, has terminated. The identity of the party with the one founded by Jefferson, it seems to have accepted as unquestionable; but now that its members are widely disagreed as to the leading measures of public policy, the States declares that it has ceased to be a party. If we were a member of the hopeful organization, which, in spite of the States, will be very likely to pretend that it is still the democratic party—that it is not yet altogether disorganized and defunct—we might be tempted to ask the editors of that journal to inform us by what party Mr. Buchanan's administration is now supported, what party has the control in Congress, and to what party the States claims itself now to belong. As we are not a member, we forbear to ask troublesome questions.

NEWSPAPER EDITORS.—It would be difficult to compress more in a few words than is found in the following from Cheney's Journal:

A newspaper editor must, like the poet, be born to his calling, as, in the majority of instances, no amount of training will fit a person for such a post, unless he have a natural taste and aptitude for this description of literary labor; for, although many persons are able to write "clanders," or "highly original," for a newspaper, few can be entrusted with its editorial control, few can detect the libel which lurks in almost every communication, few can distinguish the report intended to please the speaker instead of informing the nation, and the editors written to serve private interests instead of public ends; still fewer who can, at a glance, the kind of literary or political material which will promote the circulation of a journal—in fact, a good editor's great difficulty is not as to what he should put in, but what he should keep out of his columns. Successful editors have not been great authors, but men of good common sense, and their good common sense has taught them to write but little themselves, but to read, judge, select, and combine the writings of others.

Miss Burdett Coutts has lately taken under her patronage a Liverpool street beggar, a cripple, who used to move along the streets in a small cart, propelling himself by handles. He played on the accordion, and with such skill as to attract the attention of the eccentric lady, who now introduces him for the first time into fashionable society.

There are in Massachusetts two hundred and twenty-four factories, with a capital of thirty-two millions of dollars, and one and a half millions of spindles, which put into the market manufactures goods worth thirty millions of dollars annually.

LOCAL.

[For the Daily News.]

COURT OF JUSTICE.—There was not business sufficient before the Court yesterday morning to keep the officers out of mischief, and prevent their coming sleight-of-hand performances over a guileless and unsuspecting local reporter, who was for the time being in very much the predicament of him of old, who fell among a certain man was called, in a civil case, to "come into court and answer," but he did not come, and so the case ended, or passed back into the hands of the lawyers, to be ground over, and come up, perhaps, in another place.

Jerry Sullivan, and that bottle of rum, did not come to the scratch, which, by the way, was all the better for Mrs. Brown, in whose cases there always appears to be a loop-hole, and she to have the luck to crawl through it, whether by hook or by crook, it makes to her but very little difference, only so she gets out. In this instance, we are told that Jerry was offered as high as ten dollars for that bottle and its contents, which, considering the low price of r. g. in this community, and the additional circumstance that Madam Brown is not particularly celebrated for the excellence of her liquors, is a little more than it is intrinsically worth. Howbeit it is presumed the matter has been amicably adjusted, and that Mrs. Brown will go on supplying Mrs. Sullivan with rum, and the latter lady will still indulge in the pleasing and innocent pastime of cracking her husband's skull.

OUR "DULL TOWN."—Everywhere the cry has gone forth that ours is a dull town, in the winter season. In Providence we hear it, in Fall River it is sounded in our ears, in short, wherever the name and fame of Newport are known, this impression has gone forth. It is not true. Business, we admit, is less brisk in the winter than the summer months, when the population of our city is nearly doubled. But socially we contend that Newport is not a whit behind its neighbors in the opportunities it affords for rational enjoyment and individual improvement. Let us see: for the last eight or ten weeks there have been at least two public lectures each week, and during the same time, one concert. And a not unpleasant feature connected with this is, that the proceeds of these lectures has been expended in our own city, and has not been so much money carried out of the place. Add to these the social meetings in the various churches, the meetings nightly in Music Hall, the singing school in Harmony Hall two evenings each week, and the numberless select social parties at private residences, and to attend one quarter of these will busy a person's time pretty effectually.

There are other amusements than these, in larger places; but they tend to impoverish a community, and too often to corrupt their morals. We have all the amusements here we can afford to pay for, and all that any reasonable man ought to expect in a place the size of Newport.

Scarcely a day passes that Mayor Cranston is not called upon by persons who have been injured, or whose windows have been broken, by snow-balls thrown by boys. On Monday, some of the boys of the Clarke Street School, threw a snow-ball through a window of a house in the neighborhood, and the broken glass cut the face of a little girl of the house. The Mayor was sent for by Mr. Clarke, the Principal of the School, and after speaking to the boys of the impropriety of their conduct, their violation of a City Ordinance, and of the risk they run in injuring others and being injured themselves, informed them that if he had any more complaints of this kind against them, he should certainly prosecute them. Yesterday afternoon two boys called at the Mayor's office and complained that they had been assaulted by some of the scholars of the school in Farewell street; an eye of one of the boys was considerably injured. The Mayor sent for the boys and reprimanded them for their conduct, informing them that if the offence was repeated, they would certainly be punished. It is the duty of parents to impress upon their children that they must not throw snow-balls in the streets, for if they do not do this, the City Ordinance will be enforced against them.

We understand that a suit is talked of against officer Cozzens of this city, for false imprisonment, in which the damages are laid at ten thousand dollars.

In Pike county, Illinois, last week, Wm. L. Chrysler, an outlaw and desperado, attempted to abduct his wife and child, who had left him two years previously for his wickedness. Subsequently he was arrested, with some of his confederates, and carried off by an excited multitude, and, perhaps, hung.

One of the guests at a late brilliant party in Washington, a Mrs. P., of New York, is said to have worn gems fully worth $100,000, and several others were decked with fortunes in this attractive shape.

Major Sprague, U. S. A., who recently purchased a silver mine situated in Dona Ana County, New Mexico, from Hugh Stephenson, for $8000, has sold the same to a company in New York, for $40,000.

Oh! pity my sufferings, and hear my complaint.
I've travelled through Thames street until I am faint;
Overstained I have stumbled, in gutters I've fell,
Besides other adventures which I never will tell.
Sometimes it is icy, and I reel to and fro,
At others so wet, that I never can go;
And then I sit down, with despair in my face,
And wish I was out of this horrible place.
Now that terrible gulf at Sirinburne's wharf,
Will lay the foundation for a very bad cough,
Which doctors cannot cure, nor medicine heal,
But which the poor sufferer will long have to feel.
And the Mary street river will cause a disaster
Too serious for money, to pay for the plaster;
The side walk is ruined and curb stones are gone,
And the whole of that region is looking forlorn.
The Muse made me write what I've written above,
And all has been penned in a spirit of love;
I hope the City Fathers will heed what I say,
By causing repairs, without any delay.

THE FIRE IN BROOKLYN.—The following particulars have been received of the fire in Brooklyn Sunday morning, published in our paper of yesterday:
The building was occupied on the first floor as a bakery and confectionery by L. Moreau, and the upper part of the building by Edward Gill. The family of Mr. Gill consisted of his wife (Mrs. Elizabeth Gill), Mary and Ellen, daughters, two servants named Ann Keegan and Honora Keegan (sisters), Mr. Thos. Gill, brother of Mr. E. Gill, and Mr. Otto Graves, a boarder. The fire broke out at 4 o'clock in the morning. When the firemen arrived, the inside of the house was in flames. A woman was seen hanging to a window sill of the upper story on the Elm street side, and a man was making a rope from some bedding, and attempting to let himself down from the third story, rear window. The flames burst in the face of the woman, and she fell upon the sidewalk. The rope which the man had made broke, and he was precipitated to the ground. Another man was also seen to jump out of the window. A woman was seen at one of the third story windows in an imploring attitude, but soon fell back, and was seen no more alive. After the fire was suppressed, the bodies of Mrs. Gill, her two children, and Ann Keegan were found lying in the middle room, all dead. The names and ages of the victims are as follows: Mrs. Gill, aged 27 years; Mary E. Gill, 2 years; Helen Gill, 6 years; Ann Keegan, 17 years. The following were injured: Thomas Gill, brother of Edward Gill dangerously; Otto Graves, slightly; Honora Keegan, dangerously and perhaps fatally.

Enter From Hayti.
Holmes' Hole, Mass., Feb. 7.—The schooner Mercy, which arrived here last night, brought Port au Prince dates to January 16th. The revolution had extended to nearly all parts of the empire, as the St. Louis steamer having taken place both on land and sea, with considerable loss of life. Soulouque had been compelled to retreat. A naval engagement had taken place off St. Marc, six vessels taking part.
The admiral's vessel was badly damaged and the whole fleet bore up for Port au Prince. Reinforcements were joining Gouffier from all points. It was believed that Soulouque would not be able to force his way into Port au Prince, the city being surrounded by the Republicans. Soulouque's coffee had all been seized and sold at auction. A Danish brig had been chartered by him to load, but it was thought would not be allowed to enter at Port au Prince. When the schooner Mercy left, the city was under arms and no mail was allowed to pass out.

Some three years ago, several houses and other buildings in Brewer, Me., were entered and robbed, but no clue to the thieves could be found. Recently, however, a convert in the revival new in progress in that section, confessed the crime, implicating four other young men residing in the neighborhood, but now all absent, some of them in distant States.

Charles A. Weeks, one of the converted actors of the revival excitement last year, who became a minister, and preached with much acceptance, appeared in Troy, N. Y., last week, in the play of "Retribution." Lack of pecuniary means to support a dying mother, and two sisters, drove him back to his old profession.

A writer in the Boston Courier insists that the Atlantic cable was a sheer humbug, and argues that there is no evidence that a single intelligible sentence was ever conveyed by it either way. He makes it appear that concealment and prevarication, if not absolute falsehood—and a good deal of it, too—have characterized the management of the cable ever since it was laid.

A youthful incendiary, named Judson Starr, fifteen years old, the son of worthy parents, has been arrested at Hartford, 110 confesses having set fire to a barn on the 20th ult. He was one of the wild boys who loved to run with engine companies and got into bad habits.

If you would have an idea of the ocean in a storm, just imagine four thousand hills and four thousand mountains all drunk, chasing one another over a newly plowed ground, with lots of cavers in it for them to step into now and then.

Andrew Jackson has been arrested, in Lowell, for a criminal offence; and Thomas Jefferson, of the same city, has been seriously assaulted. William Shakespeare was recently arrested, in Baltimore, for stealing sausages.

A shrewd business man, who takes little interest in politics, is reported to have remarked that the proposition to buy Cuba seemed to him "like an offer to give money that we had not got, for a thing we didn't want, to a nation that wouldn't sell."

A boy preacher, named Williams, aged thirteen years, the son of a railroad porter, is creating a great sensation in Wales.

XXXVTH CONGRESS.

SECOND SESSION.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.

In the Senate, the vote opposing the Missouri two per cent Land bill was reconsidered, but the discussion of the bill was deferred. Memorials were presented from New York, opposing any increase in the rates of postage. Mr. Clay, from the Committee on Commerce, brought in a substitute for the Treasury Secretary's recommendations of economy. Mr. Clay proposed to dispense with the service of about a thousand Custom-House officers. In the House no important business was done.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

MONDAY, Feb. 7.

Senate.
Mr. Peckham of Gloucester presented the petition of Samuel G. Arnold and others for an act to incorporate the Sopori Land and Mining Company; which was received and referred to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. Bayley, from the joint select committee on the same, made a report relative to alterations in and additions to the jail in Bristol, which was referred to the Committee on State Property.

The several nominations for Major General and papers connected therewith, which came up from the House, were laid upon the table.

Mr. Cooke presented the petition of the Merchants Bank in Providence relative to the circulation of banks in the State. A similar petition was presented from the Bank of North America, both of which were referred to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. Fairbrother, from the Committee on Corporations, reported back the petition of the stockholders of the Smithfield Lime Rock Bank for change of name; which was passed in concurrence; also, the petition of the Bristol Fire Arms Company for amendment of charter; which was passed in concurrence with an amendment.

Mr. Fairbrother, from the same committee, reported back the petition to incorporate the Laurel Hill Land Company; which was continued to the May session, with order of notice.

Mr. James of Providence presented the petition of George W. Hallet and others for an act to incorporate the Equitable Fire and Marine Insurance Company in Providence; which was received and referred to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. James also presented the petition of Alfred Anthony and others for an act to incorporate the Arizona Land and Mining Company; which was received, read and referred to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. James also presented the petition of the Protestant Episcopal Church for an amendment of charter; which was received and referred to the Committee on Corporations.

Adjourned.
We are requested to give notice that the Committee on Corporations will meet on Friday, immediately after the adjournment of the Senate, for the purpose of hearing parties upon the petition of R. B. Lawton and others of Newport, for repeal of city charter.

House of Representatives.
Mr. Wheaton of Providence presented the petition of the Hartford, Providence, and Fishkill Railroad Company for authority to make a loan on mortgage for the purpose of extinguishing its floating debt; which was received and referred to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. Howland of Providence presented the petition of Tisdale Carpenter and others for an act of incorporation under the name of the Providence Nail Company; which was received and referred to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. Baker of Warren rose, and read the following paragraph from the report of the select committee upon the equity powers of the Supreme Court, made to the House on Friday last:

"Your committee find, on comparing the published report of the case, Ives vs. Hazard, included in the fourth volume of Rhode Island Reports, with the original bill in equity, and the opinion and decree of the Supreme Court rendered in said case, that in the said original bill and the opinion and decree rendered thereon, there is no allegation or charge of breach of trust or fraud as agent of said Ives, against said Charles T. Hazard; whereas in said report of said case, reference is made to a supposed agency on the part of said Hazard for said Ives, and your committee also find that a report of the case, Ives vs. Hazard et al., from the fourth volume of Rhode Island Reports, was annexed to a published statement of said Ives, in relation to said case, some six months before said fourth volume of reports was published and ready for distribution."

I am not willing to believe that the House of Representatives can approve of such injustice on the part of one of its committees towards any officer appointed by the General Assembly or any citizen of the State; and request you, in my behalf, to move that I may be allowed to answer this charge against me before a select committee to be raised by the General Assembly, which has not, without hearing me, prejudged my official conduct. As the charge has in various forms been brought to the attention of both Houses of the General Assembly I should prefer a joint committee of that body.

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,
SAMUEL AMES.
To William L. Baker, Esq., member of the House of Representatives.

The reading of this extract was followed by the reading of the subjoined letter from Mon. Samuel Ames:

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 4, 1899.
Sir,—Upon looking over the Providence Journal this morning, I was surprised to find in the published report of the special committee of the House upon the Ives and Hazard case, a paragraph implying censure upon me as reporter of the decisions of the Supreme Court, both as to the matter and the substance of my official report of that case.

I was, before aware that any charge against me as reporter had been made to the General Assembly, and certainly did not anticipate that any committee of either House of that body would inquire into, and report, the charge, an opportunity to defend myself. Still less did I suppose that so unjust an attempt would be made to forestall the public judgment, when it was well known that I did not shrink from the most searching investigation into my official conduct in relation to the above case, but had already, by suit, appealed to a jury for redress against a libelous charge similar to that embraced by the petition of Charles T. Hazard, and thus incriminated by this committee.

Mr. Baker moved that this letter be referred to joint select committee, which motion prevailed, and Messrs. Wheaton of Providence, Baker of Warren, Peckham of Newport, King of North Providence, and D. Clark of Cumberland, were appointed the committee on the part of the house.

Mr. Jenckes of Foster, pursuant to previous notice, introduced an act in amendment of the existing law in relation to fisheries; which was read twice and referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. Staples of Barrington presented the petition of St. John's Church in Barrington for an act of incorporation; which was received and referred to the Committee on Education.

Mr. Smith of Cumberland gave notice that he should, on some subsequent day, ask leave to introduce a bill in relation to jurors and juries.

Mr. Van Zandt of Newport [Mr. Greene of Providence in the chair] submitted a resolution that three hundred copies of the Journal of the Convention which framed the present constitution of the State, be printed for the use of the House; which after having been supported by the mover and Mr. Howland of Providence, was read and passed.

Mr. Sanford of Providence presented the petition of Albert Waterman and others for an act of incorporation under the name of the Providence Railroad Company; which was received and referred to the Committee on Corporations.

Adjourned.

DIED.

In this city, Oct. Almira, daughter of the late Wm. Newcomb, in the 18th year of her age.

"There's not a cloud that doth arise
To bid me wean from mine eyes;
I shall mount the upper skies,
All is well—all is well."

Bright angels are from glory come,
They're round my bed, they're in my room,
They wait to wait my spirit home,
All is well—all is well."

Farewell, dear friends, adieu, adieu,
I can no longer stay with you,
My glittering crown appears in view,
All is well—all is well."

A GOOD SEWING MACHINE

LIGHTENS THE LABOR AND PROMOTES THE HEALTH AND HAPPINESS OF THOSE AT HOME.

The particular attention of Ladies is called to the Family Sewing Machine, manufactured by the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine Company, which possesses the following decided and unmistakable advantages:

1st. It is contained and operated in a handsome black walnut case, which can be closed and locked when not in use, thereby affording the owner the satisfaction of knowing that it is not used or tampered with in her absence, and which is an effectual safeguard against dust and dampness.

2d. It occupies less than a square foot in space, is light and portable, and can be transported or carried from one room to another with the greatest facility.

3d. Cotton is used on these machines as it is purchased on spools, without re-winding, saving a great deal of time, trouble and waste.

4th. The trouble and perplexity of attending to a shuttle, (as in other machines) is in this avoided. No shuttle is employed, the under thread being used from a spool.

5th. It can be used by hand or foot, at pleasure; conveniences for the latter power always accompanying the machine, without extra charge.

6th. It is very simple, yet strong in construction, easily learned and kept in order, can be run at great speed, and does not require to be taken apart to be oiled.

7th. The stitch is even, distinct and regular, and for general beauty, strength and elasticity, excels the very best hand sewing.

8th. This machine embroiders beautifully.

9th. The price is from $50 to $100.

Family machines also arranged in tables, cabinets, &c., with drawers, and every convenience for work and speed, at prices varying from $50 to $100.

The extensive patronage and popularity enjoyed by these machines is the best evidence of their superiority. Their novel style—ornamental, yet highly useful—their almost noiseless operation, the simplicity of their construction, and beauty of their work, together with the advantages enumerated above, render this, without any qualification whatever, the best, cheapest, and most reliable sewing machine ever brought before the public.

Ladies, and all others interested in the saving of labor, are invited to call at A. J. Ward's, and examine for themselves. These machines are freely shown, and samples of work given at all times.

TELEGRAMS

TO THE

NEWPORT DAILY NEWS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.

A paper was circulated in the House to-day, calling a conference on Wednesday evening, of Democrats from all sections, for a general interchange of views on the tariff question. A proposition was started to-day by Mr. Taylor of La. to introduce a bill "suspending for two years the tariff of 1867, thus revising the tariff of 1846. A good many Southern members, heretofore opposed to any measure looking to a modification of the tariff, have agreed to this proposition of Mr. Taylor.

It is understood that the President will veto the Agricultural College bill.

Mr. Shidell declared to-day that he is determined to force the Cuba question to debate and a vote, and that if he cannot do so on the thirty million bill, he will move it as an amendment to one of the general appropriation bills.
